What is an IDP?

The International Driving Permit (IDP) is a document that, alongside a local driving licence, permits the user to drive in a foreign country. Driving abroad without an IDP could be illegal. This means if you want to drive abroad, you will likely need an IDP to accompany your valid drivers licence. A newly designed IDP booklet delivery started from December 1, 2024 onwards.

ID & Information

You are required to carry your driver's licence with your IDP at all times.

Why Do I Need an IDP? Renting Cars Abroad

Most car rentals require an IDP before you can collect your rental car. In some cases your rental may be refused without an IDP.

Traffic Accidents

In the event of an accident it is important to carry your IDP and driver's licence to ease the burden of the situation. Some insurers may not honor the claim without an IDP.

Routine Traffic Stops

It also helps at a routine traffic stop when you are travelling as you may be asked to establish your international driving eligibility.

Where can I apply for IDP?

You can order your IDP only at:
